Work experience

Postdoctoral Researcher in Urban Planning and Mobility | Department of Geography, Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona | 01/12/2024 - Current | Barcelona, Spain

- Developing the conceptual framework for the ATRAPA (The Active Travel Backlash Paradox) project and leading spatial analysis on urban interventions and public response.
- Co-supervising doctoral students in the Research Group on Mobility, Transport, and Territory (GEMOTT).
- Assisting in the implementation of core outcomes of the ATRAPA project.
- Supporting the development of a database linking urban interventions with electoral outcomes for the ATRAPA project.
- Contributing to publications and collaborating within the GEMOTT team.

Research Fellow in Active Travel and Road Safety Data Science | Institute for Transport Studies, University of Leeds | 01/04/2022 - 31/03/2024 | Leeds, United Kingdom

- Supporting the SATURN (Supporting Active Travel Using Road-lighting at Night) project to advance understanding of the impacts of physical infrastructure, including street lighting, on active travel uptake and safety.
- Contributing to the CRUSE (Cycle Route Uptake & Scenario Estimation tool for Transport Infrastructure Ireland) project to create a national cycling uptake model for Ireland.
- Co-supervising Transport Planning MSc students.
- Contributing to the academic environment, by supporting others with their work, generating ideas, and providing constructive feedback on research plans.
